Ma famille !

In English we say my mother and my father. In French you'd say mon père and ma mère, because words like my and your change based on the gender of the word after them!

| masculine	feminine
mon père my father	ma mère my mother
ton frère your brother	ta sœur your sister
son fils his / her son	sa fille his / her daughter

🔊 mon père

my father

Fille can mean either girl or daughter. Femme can mean woman or wife. Just pay attention to the context to figure out which one someone means!

🔊 une femme et une fille

a woman and a girl

🔊 C'est la fille de Julia.

This is Julia's daughter.

🔊 Ma femme s'appelle Alice.

My wife's name is Alice.

Whose kid is this?

In English, we say Marie's cat. But in French, you'd switch the word order and say le chat de Marie.

🔊 le chat de Marie

Marie's cat

le chien d'Anna

Anna's dog
